

How To Play Memory

- * To begin, place the cut out pieces face down on the table and mix them up.
- * Then, lay out the pieces in several straight lines. For example, 6 rows with 5 playing pieces in each row.
- * Have the youngest player go first. The first player picks up a piece then attempts to match the picture on the piece she has in her hand with another she picks up. If she makes a match, she may take another turn. If she doesn't make a match, the next player takes his turn.
- * Continue to play in this way until all the pieces are gone.
- * The player with the most pieces wins the game!
- * You can adapt the game to your players. You can take out some playing pieces to make the game easier for younger children. Or, start the game out with only a few pieces and each round, increase the number of pieces in play!
